NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-SIX

WOBVURN HIGH SCHOOL 1906

THE TENTH EDITION

about our book . . .

Although our school days are perhaps the most secure and the happiest days of our lives, most of us fail to realize this or to appreciate the advantage of an education until we become seniors. Then, suddenly, we are aware that our carefree days are over and that we will soon be on our own. When this realization dawns, we recognize the importance of our learning and the opportunities offered us over the past twelve years.

These years, however, have not been devoted entirely to studying. We have had fun. Sports events, dances, senior play, and other activities have provided many hours of enjoyment that will always be remembered by the graduates.

We, the staff of the 1956 Innitou, have undertaken to portray your life at Woburn High School in an effort to keep alive these memories in the years to come.

We pay tribute

personality

patience

to . . . Helen M. Gillespie

There are many to whom we are deeply indebted for guidance and encouragement during the past three years. Our parents, of course, come first on the list; but teachers, advisers, and religious leaders all follow closely.

Among those to whom we owe such gratitude is one who has shown active interest in our every endeavor. The epitome of earnest sincerity, energetic application, and enduring patience, she is a truly efficient secretary.

We, the Class of 1956, with great admiration and appreciation proudly dedicate our yearbook to our office secretary, MRS. HELEN M. GILLESPIE.

sincerity

To The Graduating Class:

Each year it is with a great deal of pride that I write a message to the graduating class. It is, in a sense, the sort of pride an artist must feel looking at his canvas, or an author upon completion of his novel, or a sculptor who has molded a fine object. My pride, however, must be shared with many others—your parents, teachers and religious instructors. All have had a share in molding your ideals, beliefs, and habits, the sum of which produced your character. If at the age of six you had entered a school in some foreign land whose principles were totally different from our democratic traditions, you today would have an entirely different concept of the meaning of life. You would have been taught that the State, not God, is supreme, and that it is the masses, not the individual, who is important.

Through the Grace of the Creator, you were educated in a country which looks to God for guidance; a nation which looks upon each individual as a person with the "right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness". The subject matter which you were taught is secondary to those principles of democracy and good citizenship which your teachers have made the keynote of all their classes. It is our prayer that in whatever endeavor you may pursue, you will never compromise with these ideals; that through your efforts, and those of all the other graduating classes, our Country will remain "one nation, under God, with liberty and justice for all".

Our Administrators

To the Class of 1956:

These are anxious times! The world of 1956 is filled with tensions unknown to the mid-nineteenth century days when our high school was established.

In that distant time the problems in education were not complex, because the educational needs of the small numbers who were privileged to enjoy the facilities of the high school were simple and specific. As conditions altered during the years, it has been the continuing task of our high school over the past century to provide for the educational needs of the pupils in the community who attend the school.

To say times have changed is merely to restate the obvious. The economic and technological changes of even the short post World War II years make us realize how transient is the present.

This has been the great challenge to our high school. We must at once try to preserve the culture of the past and the heritage of our American way of life by providing some common experiences to all youth who attend the school, and at the same time furnish each pupil with the particular experiences which meet his individual aptitudes, abilities, and interests, so that he might truly enjoy his inalienable right to the pursuit of happiness.

In this commencement season of the Class of 1956, let us reflect then on those experiences, permanently pictorialized by this Yearbook, which the Woburn High School has provided to permit us to live more useful individual lives and which have united us in common cause as American citizens in these anxious times.

The Woburn Chapter of the National Honor Society of Secondary Schools is capably supervised by Mr. Connolly, Miss Soles, Mr. Horrigan, and Mr. Ring.

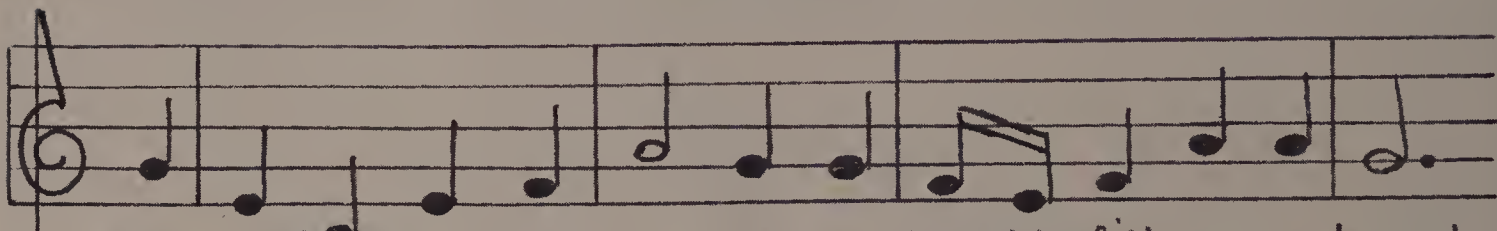

Members of the National Honor Society enjoy themselves.

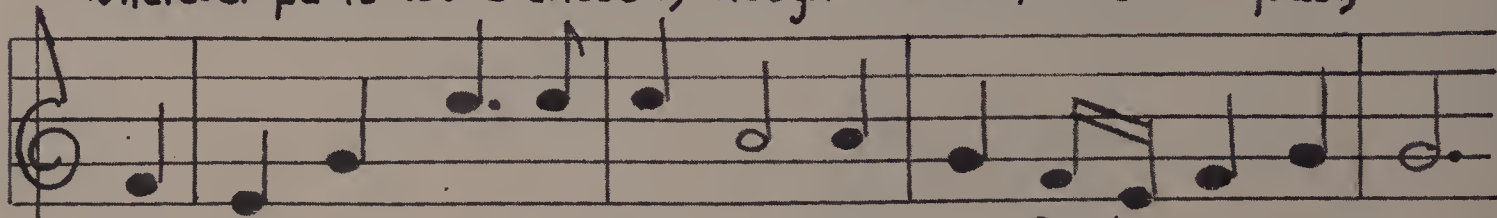

Class Song

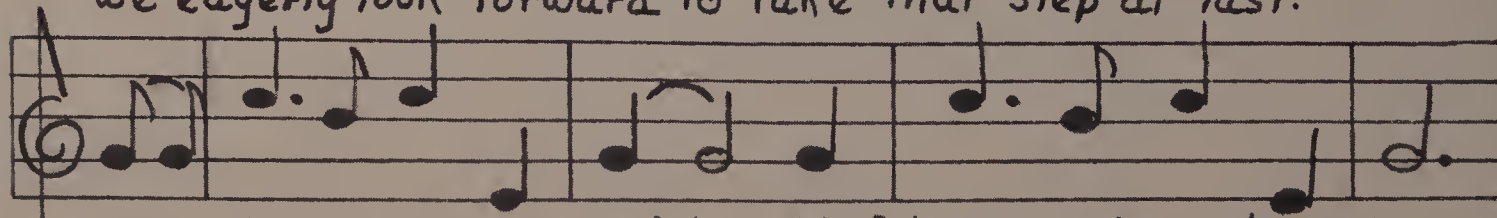

Onward

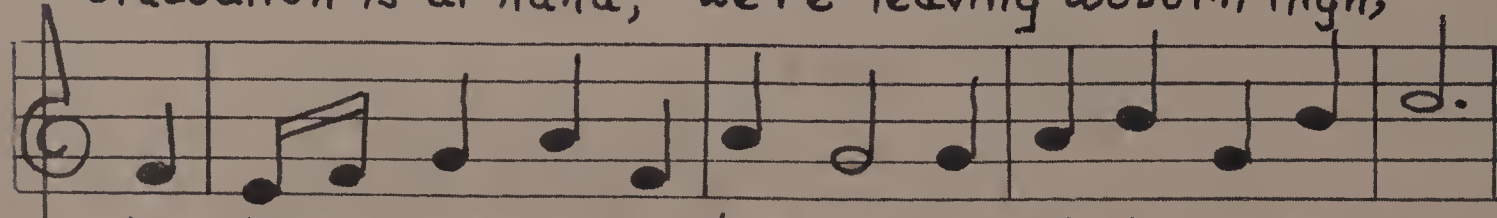

We're standing at the crossroad; Grave thoughts fill every heart;
Whatever paths we've chosen, Though sad to leave our past;

We've been these years together; And now it's time to part.
We eagerly look forward To take that step at last.

We hold so many memories Of friends and teachers, too;
Graduation is at hand; We're leaving Woburn High;

We've shared success and failure, But now schooldays are through.
And knowing we'll ne'er forget - We bid a fond good-bye.

Words and music

Class Poem

THE CHALLENGE

*The day draws to a close, so calm and still,
As weary travelers, such as we, watch the sinking sun
And dream the dreams that the morrow will fulfill,
Remembering the past and the plans begun.*

*Along the well worn trail we've journeyed a part,
'Tis the end of but one happy, blissful day
And deep within the temple of each heart,
Its memories of peace and joy will stay.*

*When radiant morning dawns with splended rays
To give renaissance as its envied prize,
We travelers then go our separate ways—
The beckoning future now before us lies.*

*If we keep constant hope within our souls,
And daily greater faith in God we gain,
Our enriched lives will yield more noble goals
And the courage to grasp what He will ordain.*

—NANCY WHEATON

ACTIVITIES

Council meetings can become heated.

The Student Council consisting of a representative from each homeroom and organization is always active. Through this group the students have a voice in school affairs. Many interesting assemblies and social affairs are fostered by the council from dues paid by the student body.

The annual dance, held in November under the direction of Mr. O'Donnell and Mr. Henchey, our advisers, was a social and financial success.

Josephine Ciampa, Editor-in-chief, is capably assisted by four faculty advisers: Mr. Connolly, Mr. Walsh, Mr. Flaherty, and Miss Brady.

The newspaper is published quarterly and covers the news of all social and athletic functions.

The Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Kimball, is composed of about twenty members. Its performances at many school functions add much to the enjoyment of these programs. Many students who play musical instruments are given a chance to gain much pleasure and experience by joining this group.

Each year the members attend a Rotary Club luncheon at which they entertain the Rotarians by playing choice selections.

Small imperfections can be changed with practice.

With this much hard work the results are bound to be good.

The Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Edson Kimball, worked enthusiastically throughout the year. One of the outstanding features of the graduation each year is the performance by the Senior Girls' Glee Club.

Membership is open to senior girls who have been enrolled in the music classes throughout the entire three years.

They also have made birthday boxes for February, party boxes for April, and tray favors for June which were sent to nearby Veterans' Hospitals. The able director behind this worthwhile organization is Miss Soles.

The group meets weekly under the direction of Mr. William Roche.

The Innitou is Woburn High's Yearbook. Published by the seniors, it strives to give an overall picture of school life. Although each member of the graduating class has a part in the publication, the staff members lay the foundation and organize the content.

It is with justifiable pride that they present The Annual at the Senior Class Banquet sponsored by the staff.

BOYS' BASKETBALL

Did it go in, Paul?

Don't let him stop you,
Champ!

This year the basketball team played a twenty game schedule under the direction of Mr. Flaherty. Two newcomers, Metheun and Burlington, were added to their roster. Composed chiefly of veterans, the Tanners displayed much talent under the leadership of Captain Paul McElheney, a varsity member since his sophomore year. The highlight of the season was the return game with Brandon, Vermont. How proud we were to show our fair city to the boys from the Green Mountain State!

BOYS' HOCKEY

Conference Champs of the Northeastern Division of the North Shore Hockey League.

The Hockey Squad made its 1955-56 debut in the Annual Lynn Jamboree. The scoring power of Joe McGilvary, Jim Day and Bill Dunnigan played a major role. Joe Castiglione, top scoring defenseman, displayed as much talent on the rink as he did on the gridiron.

GIRLS' FIELD HOCKEY

ON THE DIAMOND

Each year a fine baseball team, under the coaching of Mr. McDonough, is produced at Woburn High School. The team has won the Northeastern Conference championship for the previous two years. With many of the boys returning as baseball veterans, the team showed its spirit in many a hard workout.

An outstanding organization in the school is the Band of which the entire student body is justly proud. Composed of about sixty members under the direction of Mr. Kimball, it aroused school spirit at all football games and contributed much to the rallies and assemblies as well as to the civic functions.

BAND

DRUM MAJORETTES

Sally, Ann and Shirley demonstrate the idea to the rest of the group

The drum majorettes provided enjoyable entertainment for the spectators during the halves of the football games with their unusual and intricate routines. They have also performed with the band in many parades and were the subject of favorable compliments along the route of march.

It was quite evident to the onlookers that many hours of practice had gone into the baton twirlers' display of talent.

CHEERLEADERS

Woburn must be winning

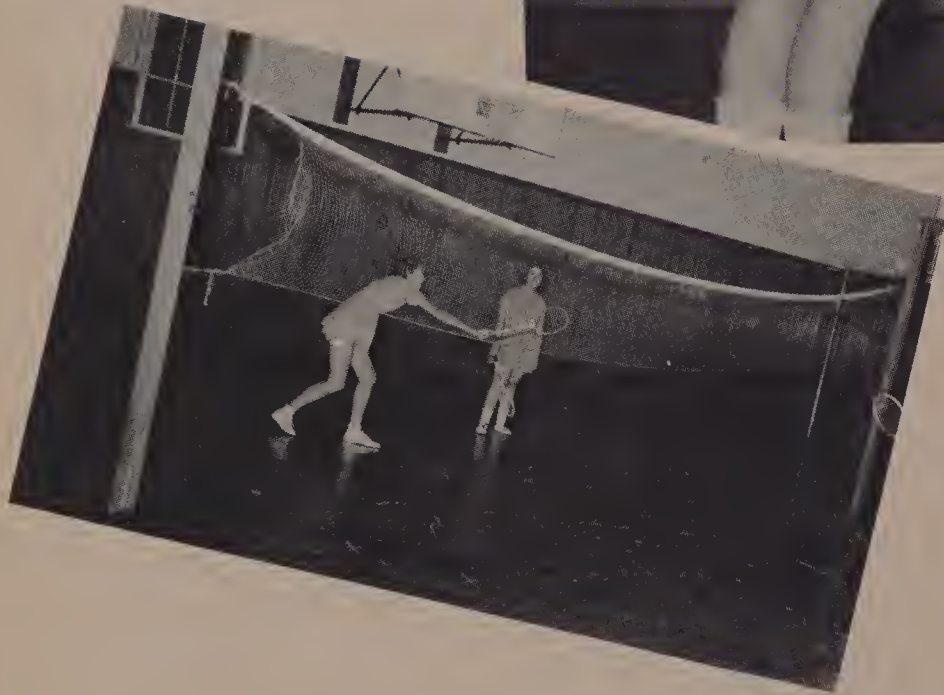

The cheerleaders are one of the most colorful groups in the school. This group is selected annually by teachers and coaches from other schools. This year's group, under the supervision of Miss Trowbridge, added color and spirit to all the teams. Only hours of drill and practice could have brought forth such outstanding performances as they have given.

A toast to the future happiness of the engaged couple, John and Millie.

‘‘LIGHTNIN’’

On April 6, 1956, our class presented ‘‘Lightnin’,’’ a play with prologue and three acts by Smith and Bacon. It was a story of two men controlling a land company who swindled people and sold their property to the railroad at a profit.

Complicated by a number of divorce cases, the conspirators were discovered in a law court by a young law student. The property was restored to the owners, and the two men were justly punished.

The staff of the 1956 INNITOU wishes to express its sincere thanks to all those who have given so generously of their time and effort, and to its sponsors and advertisers for their financial support. Without their cooperation, publication of this volume would have been impossible.
